SCIENTIFIC-PROFESSIONAL CONFERENCE

CULTURAL HERITAGE
RISKS AND PERSPECTIVES

CALL FOR PAPERS

Belgrade, May 27, 2019
Cultural Heritage Preservation Institute of Belgrade,
Kalemegdan, Gornji grad 14
The aim of the Conference is to consider and identify the following: the risks to which cultural heritage is exposed; the most vulnerable categories and properties of heritage; the exchange of theoretical and practical knowledge of how the risks can be alleviated; the possibilities of improving the attitude of society towards heritage; and the application of proactive measures.

The ultimate goal of this Conference is to raise the level of awareness of all participants on the values of cultural heritage for society, the potential threats it faces and the measures that can be taken to preserve the values of heritage for future generations.

We invite you to submit your proposal for the Conference in the form of either a paper, poster presentation, separate workshop (to be arranged separately with the organizers) or to attend the Conference.

Some of the potential threats and risks to cultural heritage we expect will be discussed and considered at this Conference are: natural disasters, destruction, globalization, urbanization, climate change, lack of awareness and respect for heritage, inadequate maintenance and non-use, tourism, economic and social changes (especially those relating to ownership and state responsibilities), lack or inadequate application of the law on the protection of heritage and/or conservation standards and non-conformity to related laws.

The identification of risks, its causes and consequences are an essential precondition for preventing possible damage to cultural heritage. The prevention of possible damage depends on timely and valid risk assessment and the application of appropriate procedures and measures. The analysis of past events, both abroad and in Serbia, assists in a more comprehensive understanding of risks and the preparation of adequate responses.

Please submit your proposal which should comply with the following sub-categories:

- Identification of threats and risks – consequences, responses, forecasts
- Lessons from the past
- Current and alternative risk mitigation measures

In addition to the above mentioned sub-categories, authors are allowed to prepare their professional/scientific works within topics, which in the broader context can contribute to understanding the risks to which cultural heritage is exposed and taking appropriate proactive measures.

The abstract should be limited to no more than 200 words and be in Serbian (Cyrillic or Latin) and English and must contain: the title of your work and the thematic field; the name and surname of the author, institution/firm and contact information. Participants who will be presenting their spoken presentation in English should submit their report in English only. After reviewing submitted proposals, the authors will be informed whether the abstract has been accepted and will receive detailed instructions for preparing and sending their final submission.

Send the abstracts to e-mail: konferencija@beogradskonasledje.rs
Deadline for submitting an abstract: December 17, 2018
Notice of acceptance of the topic and abstract: December 24, 2018
Deadline for submission of papers / presentations: March 15, 2019
Deadline for sending comments by reviewers: April 01, 2019
Deadline for submission of corrected final version of work: April 22, 2019

The Conference is intended for professional associates of cultural institutions, emergency services, professors and students, researchers, public service employees, governmental and non-governmental sector and media workers who encounter and deal with heritage issues in their work and the risk mitigation measures they can take.

Serbian and other languages of the former Yugoslav republics and English.

All works received will pass through the procedure of double anonymous reviews. Accepted papers will be published in the Conference Proceedings with unique ISBN and UDK numbers. Only the selected works will be presented verbally in the context of the Conference work program.

– Adheres to the Conference theme;
– The work is original and has not been published or previously presented;
– Demonstrates new methods, knowledge and experiences;
– Defines key issues, questions and answers;
– Does not offend the work and attitudes of others;
– Follows the instructions for writing the abstract and the proposal that will be sent with the notice of acceptance of your submission;
– Respects the deadlines that have been set.

There is no charge for participation in the Conference.
